About this handbook. This handbook applies to all Nordfalk employees in Denmark and the United Kingdom. It is maintained by the People team and updated twice a year. Where your individual employment contract and this handbook differ, your contract applies. Questions and suggestions: hr@nordfalk.com.

Nordfalk is a fictional company. This handbook is training material created for demonstration purposes.

You have joined a company that believes good engineering is a team sport. This chapter tells you who we are and what we care about.

A letter from Mette

Welcome to the flock! When I started Nordfalk in 2009, it was three engineers and a rented desk in Copenhagen. Today we are more than 250 people across two countries, but the idea is the same: solve hard technical problems, be straight with each other, and go home on time. This handbook is not a rulebook to memorise. It is a reference — the place you look when you wonder how vacation works, what to do when your child is sick, or who to call when your laptop dies. If something in here is unclear, tell us — we would rather fix it than watch people guess.

Mette Falk, CEO & founder

Who we are

Nordfalk is an engineering and digital consultancy. We design, build, and operate technical solutions for clients in energy, infrastructure, and life sciences. We are 254 employees: 182 at our headquarters in Copenhagen and 72 at our office in London.

|             |                                                                       |
|-------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 2009 | Founded in Copenhagen by Mette Falk with two colleagues.              |
| 2013 | First 50 employees. First major energy-sector framework agreement.    |
| 2017 | London office opens with a team of eight.                             |
| 2021 | Digital division launched — data engineering and automation services. |
| 2026 | 254 employees. Named one of Denmark's 25 best mid-size workplaces.    |

Our values

Precision

We do the maths twice.
Our clients build real things on our answers.

Curiosity

We learn constantly.
New tools, new methods, new industries.

Straight talk

We say what we mean, kindly. Bad news travels fast here — on purpose.

One flock

Copenhagen or London, engineer or accountant: one team, one standard.

How we are organised

Nordfalk has three divisions — Energy, Infrastructure, and Digital — plus shared functions (People, Finance, IT, Facilities). You belong to a home team with a line manager, who owns your development and wellbeing, and you work on projects that may cross divisions.

THE NEST

Our intranet is called The Nest. It is where you book vacation, report sickness, submit expenses, order equipment, and find every policy in full. If this handbook says "in The Nest", that is where to click.

Nobody is expected to be productive on day one. Here is what the first three months look like, so you can relax and learn.

Before you start

A week before your first day you receive a welcome mail with practical details: where to show up, what time, and who meets you. Your equipment (chapter 9) is ordered as soon as you sign, so your laptop and phone are on your desk on day one. Your buddy — an experienced colleague from your team — contacts you before you start and is your go-to for all the questions you feel are too small for your manager. They are not.

The first week

- Day 1: Welcome breakfast with your team, IT setup, office tour, access card, and lunch with your buddy.
- Day 2–3: Onboarding sessions: how Nordfalk works, security training (mandatory, chapter 10), and The Nest walkthrough.
- Day 4–5: Meet your project team. Shadowing first — you observe before you own tasks.

Milestones

| When     | What happens                                                                              |
|----------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Week 1   | Onboarding days, buddy programme starts, security training completed                      |
| Week 2–4 | First real project tasks with review. Intro meetings with key colleagues across divisions |
| Week 4   | First check-in with your manager: what works, what is confusing, what is missing          |
| Month 2  | You own tasks end-to-end. Onboarding survey from the People team                          |
| Month 3  | Probation conversation (chapter 3): mutual and honest — are we both happy?                |

New-hire breakfast with the CEO

Every quarter, Mette hosts a breakfast for everyone who joined in that quarter — Copenhagen and London alternate, with the other office joining on screen. Come with questions; she comes with none of the answers rehearsed. It is the best place to understand where the company is heading.

GOOD TO KNOW

Your buddy has a small budget for two lunches out with you in your first month. Use them — half of what you need to know at Nordfalk is not written anywhere, and lunch is where it gets said.

The formal frame around your job: contracts, probation, and notice periods.

Your contract

Your individual employment contract states your role, salary, and start date. This handbook supplements the contract with the policies that apply to everyone. If the two ever conflict, your contract wins.

Probation

New employees have a 3-month probation period. During probation, the notice period is 14 days from either side. Your manager will hold check-in conversations with you after approximately 4 weeks and again before probation ends (see the milestones in chapter 2).

Notice periods after probation

| Seniority | From Nordfalk | From you |
|-----------|---------------|----------|
| 0–2 years | 3 months      | 1 month  |
| 3–5 years | 4 months      | 1 month  |
| 6–8 years | 5 months      | 1 month  |
| 9+ years  | 6 months      | 1 month  |

Notice is always given in writing and runs from the end of the month in which it is given.

Secondary employment

You may hold board positions, teach, or run small side projects as long as they do not compete with Nordfalk, involve our clients, or affect your performance. Register secondary employment in The Nest, and ask your manager when in doubt.

Working from abroad

Short private stays abroad with some remote work ("workation") are possible for up to 10 working days per year within the EU/EEA and the UK, with your manager's approval and a completed tax checklist from the People team. Longer arrangements require individual approval. Workations follow the request procedure in chapter 8.

GOOD TO KNOW

Reference requests about former colleagues go through the People team — never answer them privately, even with the best intentions. It protects both you and them.

Internal mobility

Moving between teams, divisions, or offices is possible and has happened many times. Open roles are posted first in The Nest under Open roles before they are advertised externally. Applying internally is confidential until you and the hiring manager both want to proceed.

We measure output, not chair time — but collaboration needs overlap. Here is how we balance the two.

The working week

A full-time week at Nordfalk is 37 hours. Standard office hours are 08:00–16:00 (Denmark) and 09:00–17:00 (UK), but your actual hours are flexible around the core hours below. Part-time arrangements (down to 30 hours) are agreed individually with your manager and the People team.

Core hours

We ask everyone to be available (in the office or online) during core hours:

| Days              | Core hours    |
|-------------------|---------------|
| Monday – Thursday | 10:00 – 15:00 |
| Friday            | 10:00 – 14:00 |

Flex account

Hours you work beyond 37 in a week go into your flex account, and quieter weeks draw it down. The account may swing between +20 and –20 hours. Flex time is registered in The Nest and settled with your manager at least quarterly. Flex is meant for natural peaks and troughs — sustained overtime should be raised with your manager, not absorbed silently.

Remote work

You may work remotely up to 2 days per week. Your team agrees on a shared anchor day where everyone is in the office; in addition, Thursday is the company-wide office day in both Copenhagen and London. Remote days are coordinated in your team's calendar — they are a flexibility, not an entitlement on specific dates, so client workshops and team events take priority.

Time registration

We register hours on projects in The Nest, weekly at the latest — Friday before you leave is the habit that works. Time registration is billing data for client projects, so precision matters; "close enough" adds up to real money across 254 people. Internal time goes on the internal codes, never parked on a client.

GOOD TO KNOW

Meetings are booked 25 or 50 minutes by default (not 30/60), so there is always time to stretch your legs between calls. It is a small rule that people notice — please keep it.

Rest is part of doing good work. We are generous with time off and expect you to actually take it.

Your vacation days

| Type          | Days per year | Notes                                      |
|---------------|---------------|--------------------------------------------|
| Vacation days | 25            | Accrued evenly over the year               |
| Nordfalk days | 5             | Extra company days, available from day one |
| Total  | 30     |                                            |

The vacation year runs from 1 May to 30 April. Public holidays follow the country of your office and come on top of the 30 days.

Booking vacation

- All vacation is booked in The Nest and approved by your manager.
- For more than 5 consecutive working days, request at least 3 weeks in advance (see chapter 8 for the full procedure).
- Single days can be requested with shorter notice — your manager approves based on project load.
- You are encouraged to take at least 3 consecutive weeks during the summer period.

Carrying days over

You may carry over up to 5 unused days into the next vacation year. Carried-over days must be used before 31 March of that year, or they lapse. Nordfalk days cannot be carried over or paid out.

Office closure

Both offices are closed between Christmas and New Year. The three working days in that week are covered by Nordfalk days, so most people use their remaining two Nordfalk days freely during the year.

Buying extra days

Once a year, in the November benefits window, you can buy up to 5 extra vacation days for the following vacation year, financed by a salary reduction spread over 12 months. Bought days behave like normal vacation days but cannot be carried over.

IMPORTANT

Vacation is approved before you book flights. Every year someone learns this the expensive way — please don't let it be you.

When you are ill, your only job is to get well. Here is the practical side.

If you are ill

1. Report sick in The Nest (or by message to your manager) before 09:00 on the first day.
2. You do not need to explain your illness — "I am sick today" is enough.
3. Update your manager briefly if the absence continues beyond the day you indicated.
4. A doctor's note is only required if we ask for it, which normally only happens after 5 consecutive sick days.
Nordfalk pays for the note.

Sickness during your booked vacation can convert vacation days to sick days from the day you report it — report on the first sick day, not after the holiday.

Longer illness

If you are ill for more than 2 weeks, the People team joins the dialogue and we agree on a plan together — reduced hours, adjusted tasks, or simply time. After longer absences your manager holds a friendly return-to-work conversation: what happened, what helps, what should change.

Children's sick days

You may stay home on your child's first and second sick day with full pay, for children under 14. Report it in The Nest the same way as your own sickness, marked "child's sick day". For longer illness of a child, talk to your manager about flex, remote work, or vacation days — we always find a solution.

Medical appointments

Routine doctor and dentist visits are placed at the edge of the working day when possible and are otherwise simply flexed. Hospital appointments and referrals that cannot be moved are paid working time.

Caring for close relatives

In serious illness or end-of-life situations in your close family, you can get up to 10 days of paid care leave per year, agreed with the People team — beyond what local law provides. Nobody should sit in a hospital corridor worrying about their vacation balance.

GOOD TO KNOW

Our health insurance (chapter 12) includes 10 sessions per year with a psychologist or physiotherapist, with no referral needed. Using it is confidential — the People team only sees anonymised totals.

New family members outrank deadlines. Nordfalk tops up parental leave to full pay well beyond the legal minimum.

Leave with full pay

| Situation                | Leave at full pay |
|--------------------------|-------------------|
| Birth parent             | 24 weeks          |
| Co-parent / partner      | 12 weeks          |
| Adoption (primary carer) | 24 weeks          |
| Adoption (co-parent)     | 12 weeks          |

Statutory rules in Denmark and the UK differ; the table above is the Nordfalk guarantee in both countries. The People team maps it to the local statutory scheme with you, so you never get less than the table.

Flexibility

- Leave can be split into up to 3 blocks within the child's first year.
- The last block can be taken as part-time leave (for example 50% for twice as long) by agreement.
- Pension contributions (chapter 12) continue in full during paid parental leave.
- Vacation days keep accruing during paid parental leave.

Telling us

Tell your manager and the People team as early as you are comfortable — ideally 3 months before the expected start of leave. We plan project handovers around a written plan agreed with you, and your role is yours to come back to. The formal request follows the procedure in chapter 8.

Coming back

In your first month back you can shorten your week by up to 4 hours at full pay to ease the transition. Talk to your manager about ramping project responsibility back up over the first quarter. Many returning parents combine this with the part-time leave block above — the People team will show you the options.

If things go wrong

Miscarriage, stillbirth, and fertility struggles are health matters, not performance matters. Paid leave is agreed individually and generously with the People team, and the health insurance's psychologist sessions (chapter 12) are there for you and your partner. Fertility treatment appointments are treated like hospital appointments (chapter 6): paid working time when they cannot be scheduled outside working hours.

Requesting Leave: The Procedure

One procedure covers every planned absence: vacation over 5 days, unpaid leave, parental leave blocks, and workations.

The four steps

1

Prepare

Check your balance in The Nest and agree dates informally with your team.

2

Submit

Send the request with all required fields (below) — in The Nest or to leave@nordfalk.com.

3

Approval

Your manager answers within 5 business days. Unanswered requests auto-escalate to the People team.

4

Handover

Before you leave: handover note to your named contact, out-of-office on, calendar blocked.

Required fields

Every leave request must contain the following — requests with missing fields are returned unprocessed:

| Field              | Example                                                 |
|--------------------|---------------------------------------------------------|
| Full name          | Jonas Lind                                              |
| Employee ID        | NF-0482                                                 |
| Leave type         | Vacation / Nordfalk day / Unpaid / Parental / Workation |
| First day of leave | 2026-10-05                                              |
| Last day of leave  | 2026-10-16                                              |
| Total working days | 10                                                      |
| Handover contact   | Name of the colleague covering for you                  |
| Manager            | Your line manager's name                                |

A ready-to-use email template is in Appendix A.

Deadlines

| Request                                        | Submit at least                         |
|------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------|
| Vacation, more than 5 consecutive working days | 3 weeks before                          |
| Vacation, 5 days or fewer                      | 3 working days before                   |
| Unpaid leave (up to 3 months)                  | 2 months before                         |
| Parental leave blocks                          | Plan agreed 3 months before (chapter 7) |
| Workation (chapter 3)                          | 3 weeks before                          |

Unpaid leave

After 2 years at Nordfalk you can apply for up to 3 months of unpaid leave — for travel, study, family, or a project of your own. Approval depends on project situation and requires both your manager and the People team. Pension and insurance are paused during unpaid leave; your seniority is not.

If your request is declined

Declines are rare and must come with a reason and an alternative — "not those two weeks, but the two weeks after works". If you and your manager cannot land it, either of you can pull in the People team as a neutral broker. Peak-season overlaps inside a team are resolved by rotation year over year, not by who asked first.

IMPORTANT

Approval happens before money is spent. Flights, deposits, and course fees booked before your request is approved are your own risk — chapter 5's expensive lesson applies here too.

Good tools, kept safe. Our clients trust us with critical systems — security is part of the craft.

Your equipment

| Item        | Standard                                                                                      | Refresh       |
|-------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------|
| Laptop      | Choice of two models (performance / lightweight)                                              | Every 3 years |
| Phone       | Company phone incl. subscription, private use allowed                                         | Every 3 years |
| Accessories | Headset, mouse, keyboard, bag — from the IT catalogue in The Nest                             | As needed     |
| Home office | External screen on request + one-time contribution of DKK 3,000 / £330 towards chair and desk | Once          |

Broken or lost equipment: contact it-help@nordfalk.com immediately. Honest accidents are a logistics problem, not a blame problem — report them fast.

Security rules

- Multi-factor authentication (MFA) is mandatory on all Nordfalk accounts.
- All passwords live in the company password manager — never in browsers, notes, or spreadsheets.
- Laptops are encrypted and locked when you leave them, even at the office.
- Client data never touches private devices. BYOD is not permitted for project work.
- Software is installed from the IT catalogue; anything else needs an IT request in The Nest.
- Public Wi-Fi requires the company VPN — it connects automatically; do not disable it.

AI tools

We use AI tools actively — through the company-approved accounts in the IT catalogue, never private subscriptions. The dividing line is data, not tools: client data and personal data only go into the approved, enterprise-grade services listed in The Nest under Approved AI tools. Pasting client material into a private chatbot account is a data breach (chapter 10), not a productivity hack.

Phishing and incidents

Suspicious mail? Use the Report button in Outlook or forward it to it-help@nordfalk.com. If you clicked something you should not have: call IT at once — +45 32 70 90 00. Reporting a mistake within minutes usually makes it harmless; hiding it for a day is what causes real damage. Nobody at Nordfalk has ever gotten in trouble for reporting their own click, and we intend to keep it that way.

GOOD TO KNOW

We run internal phishing drills a few times a year. If you get caught, you get a friendly 10-minute micro-training — no lists, no naming. The drills are how we stay sharp.

We hold two kinds of secrets: our clients' and our colleagues'. Both deserve the same care.

Client confidentiality

Everything you learn about a client's business, systems, and people through your work is confidential — during and after your employment. In practice:

- No client names in public talks, posts, or your CV without written client approval via your project manager.
- Work happens in the client's or Nordfalk's systems — never in private storage, mail, or notes apps.
- In public spaces (trains, cafés, planes), use the privacy screen and take calls where you cannot be overheard.
- Some projects require individually signed NDAs on top of this chapter; your project manager handles them.

Personal data (GDPR)

We follow GDPR in both countries. The short version of your duties:

- Collect and keep only the personal data the task actually needs, for only as long as it is needed.
- Personal data lives in the systems designed for it — never in spreadsheets on your desktop.
- Data subject requests (someone asking what we hold about them) go to privacy@nordfalk.com the same day — the legal clock starts when they ask, not when it reaches the right desk.

If data leaks

A lost laptop, a mail to the wrong recipient, an open share that should have been closed: report it to privacy@nordfalk.com and IT immediately. Some breaches must be reported to authorities within 72 hours, so your speed matters more than your embarrassment. The rule from chapter 9 applies doubly here: reporting your own mistake fast is a career-positive act at Nordfalk.

Your own data

The People team keeps your employee file (contract, reviews, absence records) and you can see it in The Nest under My file. We keep it while you are employed and delete what the law does not require us to keep within 5 years after you leave. Access logs on employee files are audited — including for the People team.

GOOD TO KNOW

The mandatory security training from your first week (chapter 2) is refreshed every year with a 20-minute module. The Nest reminds you; managers are nudged when someone is 30 days overdue.

Spend Nordfalk's money like it was your own — then let the system pay you back quickly.

Expense rules

- Submit expenses in the expense module in The Nest with a photo of the receipt.
- Deadline: within 30 days of the purchase. Older claims need People-team approval.
- Your manager approves; reimbursement is paid with the next salary run.
- Expenses up to DKK 2,000 / £220 per item are approved by your manager alone; larger amounts also need the budget owner.

Travel booking

All work travel is booked through TravelDesk in The Nest — never on private cards. TravelDesk holds our agreements and handles rebooking.

| Item                                 | Standard                                                                    |
|--------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Flights within Europe                | Economy                                                                     |
| Flights outside Europe, over 6 hours | Premium economy                                                             |
| Hotel                                | Up to DKK 1,400 / £160 per night, unless the client site dictates otherwise |
| Train                                | Standard class; first class when it is the cheaper ticket                   |
| Mileage, private car                 | National standard rate, logged in The Nest                                  |

Per diem

Travel days with an overnight stay trigger a per diem of DKK 550 / £60 per day, covering meals and small expenses. Meals covered by clients or the conference reduce the per diem. No receipts are needed for per diem days.

Client entertainment

Reasonable client dinners are part of the job — log the participants and company names on the receipt in The Nest. Alcohol in moderation — and when in doubt, imagine the receipt read aloud at the Falkefest.

GOOD TO KNOW

Bridge tolls, parking, and public transport on work trips need no pre-approval — photograph the receipt and submit. For everything unusual (equipment on trips, conference fees over DKK 5,000 / £550), ask before booking.

Gifts and anti-bribery

You may accept client gifts up to a value of DKK 500 / £55. Anything above that is politely declined or handed to the social committee's raffle. Cash and vouchers are always declined. We never pay, offer, or accept anything to win business — a lost deal is cheaper than a lost reputation.

The package around your salary. Most of it starts on day one, automatically.

Overview

| Benefit          | What you get                                                                                          |
|------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Pension          | Nordfalk pays 8% , you pay 4% of salary, from day one                                   |
| Health insurance | Full private scheme incl. specialists, physio and psychologist (10 sessions/year), no referral needed |
| Lunch            | Canteen in Copenhagen (subsidised); lunch card in London                                              |
| Fitness          | Subsidy of DKK 2,000 / £220 per year for gym, club, or sports gear                             |
| Internet at home | Paid by Nordfalk (up to standard market price)                                                        |
| Phone            | Company phone with private use (chapter 9)                                                            |
| Extra days       | 5 Nordfalk days per year (chapter 5)                                                                  |
| Learning budget  | DKK 15,000 / £1,650 per year (chapter 13)                                                             |

Pension in practice

Contributions go to our group pension scheme; you choose your own risk profile in the provider's portal. During paid leave (vacation, sickness, parental leave) contributions continue unchanged. UK employees are enrolled in the equivalent workplace scheme with matching percentages. Once a year, the provider holds open consultation days in both offices — 30 minutes, no sales pitch, book in The Nest.

The November benefits window

Every November you can adjust your package for the following year in The Nest: buy up to 5 extra vacation days (chapter 5), increase your own pension percentage, add family members to the health insurance at group rates, or choose the commuter package (public transport card against a salary reduction).

Anniversaries and life events

- 5 and 10 year anniversaries: a gift and an extra Nordfalk day that year.
- Weddings and significant birthdays: a gift from the flock.
- Moving day: one paid day off per calendar year, booked like a Nordfalk day.

GOOD TO KNOW

The full insurance terms, pension provider details, and claim forms are in The Nest under Benefits. For anything the portal cannot answer: hr@nordfalk.com.

Consultancies sell knowledge. Keeping yours fresh is not a perk — it is the business model.

Your learning budget

Everyone has a personal learning budget of DKK 15,000 / £1,650 per year for courses, certifications, conferences, and books. It is approved by your manager and does not carry over. Conference travel follows the travel rules in chapter 11. Once a year, each team also gets a shared training day of its own choosing.

Certifications

Certifications relevant to your role are paid on top of the learning budget, including one re-take per exam. Pass a certification and the exam day itself is registered as internal time, not vacation. The Nest lists the certification paths each division prioritises this year.

Development conversations

You have two structured conversations with your manager per year:

| When      | Conversation       | Focus                                                    |
|-----------|--------------------|----------------------------------------------------------|
| March     | Development review | Skills, ambitions, next role, learning plan for the year |
| September | Check-in           | Is the plan on track? What changed? What is needed?      |

The output is a short written development plan in The Nest that you own and your manager supports. Salary reviews follow a separate annual process and are not part of these conversations — questions about the salary process go to your manager.

Knowledge sharing

- Falk Talks: internal 20-minute talks every second Thursday after lunch — any topic a colleague thinks the flock should understand. Recordings live in The Nest.
- Demo Friday: once a month, 3-minute show-and-tell of what teams shipped (chapter 14).
- Teaching counts: preparing an internal course or talk is registered as internal time — sharing knowledge is work, not charity.

Mentoring

The mentoring programme matches you with a senior colleague outside your own reporting line for six months — sign up in The Nest in January or August. Being a mentor is one of the ways senior colleagues are expected to spend their time; asking for one is never an imposition.

GOOD TO KNOW

External speaking (conferences, podcasts, guest lectures) is encouraged — clear client references with your project manager first (chapter 10), and log the talk in The Nest so we can celebrate it.

The small things that make the days good. None of this is mandatory — all of it is recommended.

Dress code

Business casual, honestly interpreted. Dress one notch up for client meetings and match the client's culture on their site. Nobody has ever been sent home for wearing a hoodie on a Wednesday; nobody has ever regretted bringing a blazer to a steering committee either.

The rhythm of the week

- Friday breakfast in both offices from 08:30 — the week's fixed social anchor.
- Thursday is the all-company office day (chapter 4): town halls and team events land here.
- Demo Friday once a month: 3-minute show-and-tell of what teams shipped. Voluntary, popular.
- Falk Talks every second Thursday after lunch (chapter 13).

Clubs and social life

Active clubs right now: running, padel, board games, wine tasting, and a climbing group in London. Clubs get a small budget from the social committee — start a new one by finding four colleagues and writing to social@nordfalk.com. The two fixed parties of the year are the Falkefest summer party (families welcome) and the Christmas party (very much adults only).

Sustainability habits

- Train beats plane for trips under 5 hours door-to-door — TravelDesk shows both.
- Leftover canteen food is sold cheaply through the surplus-food app at 14:00.
- Equipment is refurbished and donated after refresh cycles (chapter 9).

Speaking up

If something is wrong — professionally, socially, or ethically — say it. The path is: your manager → the People team → the anonymous whistleblower channel in The Nest (run by an external law firm). Retaliation against anyone who raises a concern in good faith is a firing offence at Nordfalk. That sentence is deliberately the bluntest one in this handbook.

GOOD TO KNOW

Bring-your-dog Fridays run in Copenhagen (ground floor only) — check the calendar in The Nest, maximum three dogs per Friday. The London office is dog-free by landlord rules, to the London team's ongoing regret.

Addresses, access, desks, and the everyday logistics of our two homes.

Our offices

|               | Copenhagen (HQ)                                        | London                                              |
|---------------|--------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------|
| Address       | Falkoner Allé 128, 4th floor, 2000 Frederiksberg       | 14 Redcliff Street, 3rd floor, Bristol quarter, EC2 |
| Reception     | 07:30 – 16:30                                          | 08:30 – 17:30                                       |
| Building open | 05:00 – 23:00 with access card                         | 06:00 – 22:00 with access card                      |
| Parking       | Limited spaces, booked in The Nest; free bike basement | None — cycle storage and showers in basement        |

Access cards

Your access card is personal and doubles as your canteen payment card in Copenhagen. Lost card: block it yourself in The Nest immediately, then collect a new one at reception (first replacement free). Lending your card to anyone — including colleagues — is a security violation (chapter 10 applies to doors too).

Desks and meeting rooms

- Teams have fixed neighbourhoods; desks within them are free seating. Clean desk when you leave — both for security and for the colleague who sits there tomorrow.
- Meeting rooms are booked in Outlook. Release rooms you do not use; the no-show bot frees rooms after 10 minutes.
- Focus booths cannot be booked — they are first come, maximum 2 hours.

Visitors

Register visitors in The Nest before they arrive; reception prints their badge. Visitors are escorted at all times, and client visitors do not walk through other clients' project areas — plan the route, or book the meeting room by reception.

Post and deliveries

Private parcels to the office are fine in moderate volume — pick them up at reception the same day. The reception is not a storage unit, and yes, that sentence had to be written because of a specific colleague and a specific sofa.

GOOD TO KNOW

Working from the other office is always welcome — book a desk in The Nest under Cross-office visits, and the travel follows the normal travel rules (chapter 11). Many teams do a yearly exchange day.

Never sit and wonder. This page is the shortcut to the right person for everything in this handbook.

Emergencies

For building emergencies outside office hours, call the number on the back of your access card. For security incidents, chapter 9 applies: call IT first, then your manager.

When you are not sure who to ask

Ask your manager, or simply write to hr@nordfalk.com — the People team forwards questions to the right place and never considers a question too small. The worst question is the one that waited three weeks.

AND FINALLY

This handbook covers policies, not people. The best source of "how things really work" is the colleague next to you — and the second best is chapter 1's advice: when in doubt, ask. Welcome to the flock.

Copy, fill in, send to leave@nordfalk.com — or use the form in The Nest, which asks for exactly the same fields.

Email template

To: leave@nordfalk.com
Cc: [your manager]
Subject: Leave request – [Full name] ([Employee ID])

Hi People team,

I would like to request leave with the following details:

Full name: [your name]
Employee ID: [NF-____]
Leave type: [Vacation / Nordfalk day / Unpaid / Parental / Workation]
First day of leave: [YYYY-MM-DD]
Last day of leave: [YYYY-MM-DD]
Total working days: [number]
Handover contact: [colleague's name]
Manager: [manager's name]

[Optional: anything the approver should know – peak deadlines, client coverage, agreed rotation.]

Best regards,
[Name]

Worked example

To: leave@nordfalk.com
Cc: Maria Voss
Subject: Leave request – Jonas Lind (NF-0482)

Hi People team,

I would like to request leave with the following details:

Full name: Jonas Lind
Employee ID: NF-0482
Leave type: Vacation
First day of leave: 2026-10-05
Last day of leave: 2026-10-16
Total working days: 10
Handover contact: Priya Nair
Manager: Maria Voss

Priya has agreed to cover the Fjordkraft deliverable; the handover note is drafted and shared with the team.

Best regards,
Jonas

REMEMBER

All eight fields are mandatory (chapter 8) — requests with missing fields are returned unprocessed, and your 3-week deadline does not pause while they bounce back and forth.

The questions the People team answers most often — with chapter references for the full story.

How many vacation days do I get?

30 in total: 25 vacation days plus 5 Nordfalk days (chapter 5).

Can I carry unused vacation days into next year?

Up to 5 days, which must be used before 31 March. Nordfalk days cannot be carried over (chapter 5).

How far in advance do I need to request a two-week vacation?

At least 3 weeks before the first day, with all eight required fields (chapter 8, template in Appendix A).

How many days can I work from home?

Up to 2 days per week, coordinated with your team's anchor day and the company Thursday (chapter 4).

My child is sick — what do I do?

Stay home on the first and second sick day with full pay (children under 14). Report it in The Nest before 09:00, marked "child's sick day" (chapter 6).

When do I need a doctor's note?

Only if we ask, normally after 5 consecutive sick days. Nordfalk pays for it (chapter 6).

How much parental leave do I get?

At full pay: 24 weeks as birth parent or adoption primary carer, 12 weeks as co-parent — in both countries (chapter 7).

Can I work from Spain for two weeks?

Workation allows up to 10 working days per year in the EU/EEA and UK with manager approval and a tax checklist. Request 3 weeks ahead (chapters 3 and 8).

What does Nordfalk pay into my pension?

8% from Nordfalk, 4% from you, from day one (chapter 12).

How big is my learning budget?

DKK 15,000 / £1,650 per year, plus certifications paid on top (chapter 13).

How do I get reimbursed for a client dinner?

Photo of the receipt in The Nest within 30 days, with participants and companies noted (chapter 11).

What is the hotel budget when I travel?

Up to DKK 1,400 / £160 per night unless the client site dictates otherwise. Book via TravelDesk (chapter 11).

I think I clicked a phishing link. What now?

Call IT immediately on +45 32 70 90 00. Fast reporting is what makes it harmless (chapter 9).

Can I use my private laptop for a client task?

No. Client data never touches private devices — no exceptions (chapter 9).

Can I buy extra vacation days?

Yes, up to 5 per year in the November benefits window (chapters 5 and 12).

Who approves my leave request, and how fast?

Your line manager, within 5 business days. Unanswered requests auto-escalate to the People team (chapter 8).

Which day is everyone in the office?

Your team picks its own anchor day; Thursday is the company-wide office day for everyone (chapter 4).

Where do I see my remaining vacation balance?

In The Nest under your profile — the same place you submit requests (chapters 5 and 8).

Appendix C: Glossary

Nordfalk words, decoded — for new colleagues and confused veterans alike.
